Thanks for your interest in CondoKeeper!

I know your time is precious, so I'll be brief. If you're like most condo managers, the amount of information you are required to manage is huge. Balancing multiple projects, inspections, rentals and just the day-to-day 'keeping everyone happy' can be very stressful. Time management experts recommend a system – any system – that is a central place to put and retrieve information.

There's a lot of software out there for condo managers. However, most are for condo/home owners' associations and seem to focus on the finances, but have very few information management tools specific to condo management. My parents have managed three different condos over a period of 13 years. And they, like almost every other manager they knew, used Quickbooks™ for their finances and had a series of "paper-based" to-do lists, index cards and hand-drawn diagrams for information management. This is a very common problem.

I'm sure it comes as no surprise to you that I believe I have the answer! With my parents' and other condo managers' input, I have spent the last two years developing a fully Internet-based condo information-management tool called "CondoKeeper." The fact that experienced managers have greatly contributed to its design means that it is full of valuable features you will use on a day-to-day basis.

CondoKeeper is a fully Internet-based product that continues to grow with every excellent user suggestion. There's no software to install or updates to keep up with, and no extra licensing for use on multiple computers. A one-time licensing fee and small monthly subscription charge are all it takes. No long-term contracts either. If CondoKeeper stops being useful, you stop paying.

I would also like to invite you to sign up for a FREE DEMO. But this demo isn't software that you will have to download and figure out for yourself. You will be signing up for a live CondoKeeper demo via a FREE visual and audio conference call. That way, you may ask questions and see this timesaving product for yourself – in real-time. All you'll need is 30 to 45 minutes in the evening or on the weekend, if necessary – away from the continuous stream of interruptions that I know you live with daily.

Hang in there…help is on the way!
